

NEW LIVE TRAINING SERIES: REBOOT YOUR REVIEW PRACTICE

I am hosting a LIVE online training series called 2020 Reboot. Click here to access '3 Pillars for a Successful Strengths Based Review' to see how this compares with your current practice.

I am joined by Brendan Clifford, Independent Reviewer & Black Country Councils Health & Care Integration Lead.

The training is designed to apply to all forms of review, exploring how to prioritise strong practice, deepening your analysis beyond purely understanding weaknesses.

Join us on 9th September 2020 at 1pm for this FREE live training & be sure to leave with takeaways to implement in your next review. Click here to reserve your seat.

'How to Learn From Strong Practice Without Compromising on a Robust Review' by Brendan Clifford & Donna Ohdedar

In this training we will share:

- How to make the SILP Strengths Based Review Formula work for you, focussing on learning from what went well whilst maintaining a proportionate approach
- The cycle the stakeholders in the review may experience & how a good ending may look
- THE BIG QUESTION: what is practicable & achievable to ensure our reviews embrace strengths yet also fully understand shortcomings in practice & meet statutory guidance?

Click here to reserve your seat.

SILP is a learning model which engages practitioners & families in case reviews, focussing on why those involved acted in a certain way. With a systems focus to reviewing cases, SILP prioritises strengths in practice to promote an open learning environment. Proportionality of process & report is one of SILP's underpinning principles. For more see www.reviewconsulting.co.uk/about-silp/

Donna Ohdedar, Head of SILP, has 16 years public sector experience, including her last role as Head of Law for a leading metropolitan authority. Now a safeguarding adviser & trainer, Donna is involved in serious case reviews in both children's and adults' safeguarding, domestic homicide reviews and is a SILP Reviewer and Mentor. Donna offers 'SILP School' her university accredited training course, CPD for reviewers & a free online network for leaders in review practice. Click here to join.

Brendan Clifford works independently on SARs, practice and care / health strategy after 30 years in Local Authority social care. He is a SWE Registered Social Worker, former Service Director and initiating Vice Chair of the national Principal Social Workers Network. Recently, he has co-written a paper on reflections on Strengths Based Approaches in SARs which is under review with the Journal of Adult Protection. He volunteers as a Coach and Trustee.