Head of SILP

About the Event

No matter whether you are involved in Child Safeguarding Practice Reviews, Safeguarding Adult Reviews or Domestic Homicide Reviews your focus is on quality of process & final outputs. But what does quality look like?

This unique round table discussion departs from the norm of a review specific event which focusses on one type of review in isolation. Instead, the invitation is to join a conversation in which the leading experts join the participants for professional reflection & networking. Participants will benefit from the richness of seeing best practice from different type of review & making valuable contacts. Those who choose to create enduring contacts have an opportunity to stay in touch by joining our accountability group [see 'Networking' below].

The result? A tidal wave of positive impact in the world of reviews.

THEMES

- Making families integral to the review
- The latest Triennial Analysis
- National panel update

SILP DIGITAL ROUND TABLE

Benefits of Attending

Topics

- Update from the national panel
- How the system learns – consider national reviews & their impact on learning & improvement
- Triennial Analysis & its relationship to a 2021 review
- Engaging Families in Reviews- explore what has worked for families & why.

Networking

Arrangements on the day are designed to enhance the networking opportunity. The Digital Round Table is not a long webinar. With advice from our creative events specialist, we aim to provide a similar atmosphere to an in-person event. Click here to join our online network to benefit from pre & post conference networking with peers. Post event group members will be supported by Donna Ohdedar, Head of SILP, to implement the key takeaways.

Speakers

Marian Brandon

Marian Brandon, Professor of Social Work and Director of the Centre for Research on Children and Families at the University of East Anglia. Her research activity focuses on child protection, children's views of child protection, family support and inter-agency working. For over ten years Marian has conducted national analyses of serious case reviews in England, together with Prof Peter Sidebotham.

Frank Mullane

Frank Mullane founded AAFDA, a centre of excellence for reviews after domestic homicide and for specialist peer support, in 2008, five years after the murder of his sister Julia and nephew William Pemberton. Frank and his family campaigned for five years to uncover all the facts. As a Home Office appointed reader, Frank provides assessments of reviews to the panel which quality assures DHRs

What is SILP?

SILP is a learning model which engages practitioners in case reviews, focussing on why those involved acted in a certain way. It follows a systems methodology, as is required by Working Together to Safeguard Children 2018. SILP also highlights what is working well and patterns of good practice. Tried and tested in over 150 reviews, the numbers involved in commissioning, participating in and delivering this model has grown.

SILP has been described by participants as action learning, commenting on the problem-solving approach and quality of outcomes:

'The SILP process allows for more meaningful learning, it's less threatening for practitioners, so they are willing to engage as all agencies work together to identify the learning outcomes with the help of the facilitator. 'Designated Lead Nurse for Safeguarding'
